- Under team networking, there should be something for us introverts. Networking for Introverts causes us anxiety, not that we cannot be effective in our jobs, but I believe it's time to also focus on how introverts can best network within their comfort zone. Please give us more choices on how we can participate and interact. Personally I would be more willing to participate and offer ideas if I didn't have to do it in front of people. Please offer more option for us introverts.
