

JEAN E. FOX TREE

Professor of Psychology at the University of California Santa Cruz. Co-creator of the cognitive science major at UC Santa Cruz. Co-founder of the SPARK Society whose goal is to increase the number of underrepresented scholars in cognitive science.

Monday, March 9 at 12 pm: The Power of Little Words in Everyday Conversation

Tuesday, April 7 at 12 pm: Producing and Understanding Sarcasm

BENJAMIN PERCY

Novelist, comics writer, and screenwriter.
Author of four novels — most recently The Dark Net (Houghton Mifflin Harcourt, 2017).

Thursday, April 2 at 1:30 pm: The Turn: How I've Learned to Pivot "Failure" into Success as a Writer and Educator

Monday, April 20 at 1:30 pm: "Super-powered Storytelling" — Join me in this SMACK-BLAM-POW discussion, which addresses how comics has made me — and my students — better novelists, screenwriters, poets, essayists, and short story writers.

All presentations will be in Steinbeck Hall.

Any changes to the date/time/location of the presentations will be communicated as soon as possible. All Hartnell students, staff, faculty, and community members are invited. Classified staff should check with their supervisors to coordinate employee attendance and ensure the continuous operation of offices.

These events are wheelchair accessible. Individuals requiring sign-language interpreters or other accommodations should contact Janeen Whitmore at (831) 770-6141 or jwhitmore@hartnell.edu as soon as possible.