Taylor Farms collaborates with Hartnell College

In April and June 2018, Taylor Farms collaborated with Hartnell College to provide approximately 30 Taylor Farm employees with Occupational Safety and Industrial Maintenance technical training. The two trainings, spanning 40 hours each, were based on the National Center for Construction Education & Research (NCCER) curriculum. The employees learned basic workplace skills needed to be successful in any occupational area of the company, studying modules such as workplace safety, proper use of tools, job math, team communication, introduction to construction drawings, mechanical blueprint reading, and introduction to industrial equipment components. The workshop culminated in a hands-on project with each trainee constructing a wooden toolbox guided by a blueprint drawing utilizing hand and power tools while following standard safety protocols.

Hartnell Theater Cinema
At international festivals and more

Hartnell Theatre and Cinema students and faculty have had their original play Fire, Famine, Flood accepted as a participating production in the Jersey Fringe Festival this summer in Hammonton, New Jersey. This helps culminate a yearlong project supported by a Hartnell College Faculty Innovation Grant and by the Hartnell College Arts Council to bring together faculty across the disciplines of the humanities and sciences to support students’ creative work around water and climate equity. Faculty supporters include Theatre & Cinema Faculty, along with Jenny Grohol (History) and Laura Fatuzzo (Physics). Students include Jonathan Perez, Micaela David, Alexis Casas, Esmeralda Medina, Brittany Alaniz, Louie Gonzales, Athena Ramirez, and Adonis Diaz. Grohol and TAC faculty, Dr. Marnie Glazier, have been invited to present their paper on the project at the American Society for Theatre Research conference this fall in San Diego, also.

Thanks to the support of the Hartnell College Arts Council and funds raised by student actors working with Hartnell's Nursing Program, the group will travel this month to perform at Jersey Fringe on August 4-5, 2018 - details here www.jerseyfringe.com. The Secret Garden reACTIONS

On July 8, 2018, more than 80 people participated in an informal Q & A with the cast and production team of The Secret Garden after the presentation. It was a fantastic opportunity for the audience to interact with the cast, music director, and several people involved with the production. One of the attendees remarked, "Thank you so much for bringing this beautiful show with local talent to Salinas." One young student asked one of the actors how to balance homework and rehearsing. He responded, "Be good with your sister so she can help with homework if you are super busy rehearsing."

This is part of the Western Stage’s reACTIONS – an intimate and candid discussion of the plays.

EMT Live Scenarios
Summer 2018 Cohort is on point

Last week, the Hartnell Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) summer cohort practiced live scenarios developed to help enhance their skills. The skills are evaluated by a pass/fail value system; thus, each specific component of a skill have a pass/fail value assigned. Completion of each of the components is required to pass the skills evaluation. The skills evaluation sheets have critical criteria listed at the bottom of the skill sheets. Hartnell EMT students practice relentlessly for the semester to obtain proficiency in these skills. Throughout the EMT course, instructors will evaluate the student on the individual skills required by the National Registry of EMTs.
