Hartnell’s student clubs in a variety of STEM-related subjects will join with faculty to host Family Science Day 2018 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Oct. 21 in and around Building S.

This popular community event will feature hands-on activities such as homemade slime, Play-Doh teeth molds, paper airplanes, “elephant’s toothpaste” and a bed of nails. The first 500 people will receive a free torta lunch, and a limited number of giveaway items will be shared, also.

Employees are welcome to share this fun day with their own children and grandchildren.

Hartnell will host its 33rd Annual Transfer Day/College Night events on Nov. 7, and our Transfer and Career Center is eagerly preparing for it to be a success. Because space is limited, please take a moment to let them know whether you will participate by completing this program registration form.

- Transfer Day, 9 a.m.-12 p.m.: While geared towards informing current students about valuable university transfer resources, about 100 high school seniors will be bussed in.
- College Night, 6-8 p.m.: Focused on providing community members (high school seniors & families) an opportunity to gain information on universities, technical/vocational programs and financial aid resources.

Theatre magazine features TWS
Artistic Director Jon Selover of The Western Stage was highlighted by American Theater magazine in a “Know a Theatre” interview published Oct. 10.

The introduction states, “The Western Stage, a community-based professional theatre in residence at Hartnell University (sic), produces work that celebrates the history of the region. John Steinbeck, whose childhood home is a short walk from the theatre, is often represented onstage.”

Selover notes that TWS has evolved over the past four decades “into one of the most respected community-based professional theatres on California’s Central Coast. Aspects that set us apart from others in our region include developing new works that speak to the history and culture of the Salinas Valley and its people, such as the adaptation of Victor Villasenor’s ‘Rain of Gold’ for the stage.” Congratulations to Jon and The Western Stage!

Hartnell Gallery to celebrate Dia de los Muertos on Nov. 2

The Hartnell College Gallery is accepting multimedia artwork, music, poetry, short stories and performances, including theater and dance, for its free 22nd Annual Día de los Muertos (Day of the Dead) celebration that opens Nov. 2.

Traditional and innovative interpretations of the holiday are encouraged and diverse cultures are encouraged to contribute to this exhibition, which will continue through Nov. 16. The submission deadline for “Bailando con la Muerte — Dancing with Death, a Community Celebration of Remembrance” is Oct. 27. Contact Trish Sullivan at psullivan@hartnell.edu or call (831) 594-1799.
Activities on Nov. 2 will include live performances and a procession from the gallery to downtown Salinas that will meet with processions from east Salinas and continue to the Steinbeck Center/CSUMB Center for Arts & Culture, where a “Night of Fridas” Frida Kahlo lookalike contest will be held, along with more community art and performances.

Veterans Program will host job fair on Oct. 18

The Hartnell College Veterans Program invites the campus community to its Sixth Annual Veterans Appreciation Job Fair from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Oct. 18 in the Student Center.

Students are encouraged to attend and learn about job opportunities, including over the holiday season. It also will provide an opportunity for students to complete job-preparation experiences applicable to their courses, possibly for extra credit.

In addition, the veterans program will present workshops for resume and cover letter writing from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. on both Oct. 12 and Oct. 16 in room C-101, Office of Student Life.

Ceramics Lab schedules sale on Oct. 23-24

Faculty and students of the Hartnell Ceramics Lab invite members of the campus and greater communities to purchase handcrafted work at their Fall Ceramics Sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Oct. 23-24 in the Student Center.

Proceeds will go to the Hartnell College Foundation to support the ceramics program.

President Lewallen shares in district’s 150th anniversary

It was my honor on Oct. 12 to speak at a 150th anniversary celebration for the Salinas City Elementary School District. As part of my remarks, I presented the district with a resolution adopted by the Hartnell CCD Governing Board to recognize the SCESD for a century and a half of service to the children and families of Salinas. The full text of the resolution is available here.
TRiO welcomes parents to new-student meeting
TRiO Program Director Manuel Bersamin and counselors Norma Nichols and Joel Torres shared information on Oct. 9 with about 70 parents of new SSS/TRiO students from Gonzales to Salinas at Hartnell’s Alisal Campus.

This annual meeting was prompted by research that clearly demonstrates the benefit of college staff working closely with parents of first-generation, low-income, community college students.

Presentations in Spanish and English highlighted the Freshmen Year Experience activities that the 75 new students have participated in since last summer, including a five-day orientation in June and initial student-counselor meetings in September. Parents also saw photos of the 60 SSS/TRIO graduates/transfers in Hartnell’s Class of 2018.

Stanford aids in students’ Salinas study
A group of Hartnell history students traveled to Palo Alto on Oct. 1 to meet with partners from the urban studies department at Stanford University.

Under the guidance of Professor Sam Pacheco, the students are researching post-World War II Salinas to determine whether and how redlining was used to keep certain ethnic groups out of predominantly white neighborhoods.

Students from the Stanford program have paired up with our students to mentor them in obtaining and deciphering historical information such as census data. Hartnell students are acquiring cutting-edge skills by using the Stanford GIS Lab to create geographic information systems maps, also.
Speech team members win awards in Santa Rosa

The Hartnell Speech Team continued its season at the Santa Rosa College Invitational on Oct. 6.

For the second tournament in a row, Anthony Fashano led the team with a first-place finish in Open Persuasive Speaking. His topic calls for greater legal limits to stop the practice of civil asset forfeiture.

“Anthony is really coming into his own as a speaker,” Coach Jason Hough said. “His topic is engaging and relatable to a broad audience.”

Also receiving awards were Luke Lundin, Keishawn Johnson, Allesandra Filiti and Valerie Becerra. Students Isaac Rodriguez, Victor Marquez and Victor Nambo also participated, and Athena Rodriguez assisted the team.

Engineering students attend diversity conference

Hartnell engineering students, Jose Ramos, Rafael Mendoza, Israel Dejesus, Eduardo Diaz and Christian Hernandez attended the 2018 Conference for Engineering Diversity on Sept. 15 at CSU San Jose. The conference encouraged students to be change-makers and explored the importance of encouraging a diverse workplace – for society and for business.

The students enjoyed the opportunity to tour the San Jose campus, meet with current students and interact with major employers from the Bay Area.

“There are many opportunities to get to know other engineering students, as well as recent graduates who have just begun their careers,” Diaz said. “But most importantly there were opportunities to talk to representatives from different companies.”

Football chalks up its sixth straight win

Hartnell Football traveled to San Jose City College on Oct. 13 and continued their winning streak with a 28-0 victory, powered by freshman quarterback Isaiah Ariolla-Randalle. They now stand at 6-0 overall, 3-0 in conference, and are ranked 19th in the state. The Panthers have another conference home game against Merced College at 6 p.m. on Oct. 19.

The volleyball team split its past two matches on the road, with a 3-1 win against San Francisco City College on Oct. 10 and a 3-1 loss to a strong Cabrillo College squad on Oct. 12. The Panthers are now 17-3 overall and 3-1 in conference, ranked 3rd in Northern California and 7th in the state.

Men’s Soccer had a similar week, beating Las Positas on the road, 2-0, and losing to Cañada College at home on Oct. 12, 1-0. The team has a 6-2-3 overall record, 2-1-3 in conference and is ranked 10th in Northern California and 16th in the state. The Women’s Soccer team picked up two big wins last week on the road against Chabot on Oct. 9, 5-2, and against Foothill at home on Oct. 12, 1-0. They are 8-5-1 overall and 3-1-1 in conference and are ranked 11th in Northern California.

Both men’s and women’s cross country traveled to Santa Rosa this past weekend for the Pat Ryan Invitational. The Panther runners move on to the Coast Conference Championship on Oct. 25.
